Real "Beautiful Mind"- College dropout became mathematical genius after mugging

Jason Padgett, 41, sees complex mathematical formulas everywhere he looks and turns them into stunning, intricate diagrams he can draw by hand. He's the only person in the world known to have this incredible skill, which he obtained by sheer accident just a decade ago.

View the original post here: Real "Beautiful Mind"- College dropout became mathematical genius after mugging