

Stem cells boost brain tumor treatments for some patients, study finds

Patients with brain cancer may face devastating side effects from chemotherapy, but a new study offers a possible solution: stem cells.

View the original article here: Stem cells boost brain tumor treatments for some patients, study finds – CBS News