

African agriculture: Antipathy to GM crops still strong in Zambia

Zambia has one of the strongest records of official opposition to GM crops in Africa. An official of the recently elected-into-power ruling party has re-iterated the country's opposition to GM technology and foods, but will Zambia be able to resist the seemingly increasing momentum of the GM tide?

View the original article here: African Agriculture: Antipathy to GM crops still strong in Zambia, but ...