

Monsanto opposition criticizes Obama for leading company to Africa

Last week President Barack Obama announced a plan that puts Monsanto, as well as other large agribusinesses, in charge of increasing food supplies to malnourished regions in Africa. The Grow Africa Partnership is a part of the Obama administration's plan to end hunger in Africa.

View the original article here: Obama opens door to Africa for Monsanto – Natural News.com