

Stem cells stay alive for 17 days in dead bodies

Scientists have revealed that some stem cells can lay dormant for more than two weeks in a dead person and then be revived to divide into new, functioning cells.

View the original article here: Stem cells stay alive for 17 days in dead bodies – Daily News & Analysis