

Time for a re-think on GM crops?

What would it take to break the impasse on GM crops? That's a problem that has been exercising minds at the Agricultural Biotechnology Council, which is urging the government to adopt a strategic plan for agriculture that includes a central role for biotechnology.

View the original article here: Time for a re-think on GM crops? – BBC News