

Energy beet project moves forward

An energy beet project is going toward planned commercialization in 2014 in North Dakota, despite the loss of a key leader.

View the original article here: Energy beet project moves forward – AG Week