

GM corn could soon be used to make drugs

Genetically modified corn could soon be used to mass-produce the enzymes used in rare-disease therapies, according to new research.

View the original article here: GM corn could soon be used to make drugs