

Farmers say Switzerland is not ready for GM crops

The farming community in Switzerland is not opposed in principle to genetically modified (GM) plants. But growing GM plants is unthinkable in the present situation and the national moratorium should be extended till 2017, says the Swiss Farmers' Association.

View the original article here: Farmers say Switzerland is not ready for GM crops