

Small California stem cell research brings riches by tapping into to state funds

StemCells Inc. has had rather a charmed relationship with California's publicly funded stem cell program, with some $40 million in awards approved this year.

View the original article here: Small California stem cell research brings riches by tapping into to state funds