

Debating the alleged dangers of genetically modified crops

image not found or type unknown

The Australian science site The Conversation recently carried a story from a scientist with CSIRO, Australia's national science agency, challenging what it says are the five biggest myths about the alleged dangers of GM technology. Now a scientist with Greenpeace International responds.

View the original article here: Debating the alleged dangers of genetically modified crops