

Proposition 37.1: let's start this conversation

In the shadow of Proposition 37's defeat maybe we can have a real conversation. Angry, uninformed discussion based on fear mongering from both sides detracted from a real issue— how do we provide complete information about food in a manner consistent with science? Throughout the discussion scientists and some corporate officials stated repeatedly that labeling is not the problem— Proposition 37 was the problem. A potentially complex and expensive bureaucratic web would be created to police foodstuffs that have no inherent dangers. That's just nuts.

View the original article here: Let's Talk Proposition 37.1 — No Ballots Required