

Genomics revolution: UK could miss the boat, scientists warn

The UK has a huge opportunity to lead the world in disease discovery, treatments and cures. But support from the NHS and better data collection is needed if Britain is not to lose out in the coming genomics revolution, leading scientists believe.

View the original article here: Genomics revolution: UK could miss the boat, scientists warn