

European science agency backs GM pollen use in food

Europe's top food safety regulator has delivered a scientific opinion backing Monsanto's application to place genetically modified (GM) pollen on the market for use 'in or as foods.'

View the original article here: European science agency backs GM pollen use in food