

GM debate crops up in Arizona alongside anti-GM filmmaker

The following is an excerpt.

Feb. 25, 2013 — The GMO-free community converged on Phoenix on Feb. 21 at Shadow Rock Mountain Campus when author and filmmaker Jeffrey Smith delivered a lecture focusing on genetically modified foods and the science behind the controversy.

View the original article here: GMO Debate Cropping Up In Arizona