

20 years out, biotech crops hold no surprises

The following is an excerpt.

A review of 20 years of research on compositional equivalence of biotech crops and traditionally-bred crops concluded that suspected unintended compositional effects that can be caused by genetic modification did not materialize.

View the original article here: 20 years of research proves that biotech crops functioned as expected