

Malicious harm to an devastated industry

A friend sends me a picture from the internet. It is shown here below. It originates from a Facebook effort called GMO Free Florida, another spur of the activist efforts to destroy biotechnology companies by creating false health claims and anti-scientific rhetoric to frighten a scientifically unsophisticated populace.

Look at this image. What does it say to you?

Read the full, original story here: “Malicious harm to an devastated industry”