

Your DNA profile as a song

I've always wanted to have my very own theme song, like a hero in a movie. Now, I do. I just used IDNAtity, an iOS app that mixes a little science with art. It takes information about your genetic makeup, assigns you a genetic code, and then translates that code into musical notes to form a song.

It turns out my genetics make for a somewhat discordant song. There's no way this will ever be a chart-topper, yet I still manage to get it stuck in my head.

Read the full, original story here: Genetic groove: Your DNA profile as a unique song