

All GM foods are not created equal

The Skeptic's Guide to the Universe is a podcast that I enjoy every week. This week, the panel discussed the topic of GM foods; and while I don't disagree with anything they said, I did have to grit my teeth a little during the segment. In engaging the topic the way they did, they fell into the anti-GMO activist's trap of viewing GM foods as one huge, monolithic group.

This drives me nuts. All GM foods are not created equal, and when skeptics engage anti-GMO activists as if they are, they let the anti-GMO crowd frame the debate. And letting your opponent frame the debate is never a good idea.

Read the full, original story here: “All GM Foods Are Not Created Equal”