

Video: Consciousness has an on-off switch?

While trying to treat a woman's epilepsy, doctors at George Washington University may have inadvertently found brain structures that house human consciousness. Zack Toombs explores the finding at Newsy: