

Talking Biotech: Life-saving banana for Uganda; Grape domestication and improvement

Dr. James Dale from the Queensland University of Technology speaks of his banana engineered with beta carotene that can soothe blindness and death in central African countries. He speaks of the product, the process and challenges of introducing a needed technology to the African continent.

Your questions are answered using the hashtag #Talkingbiotech

Dr. Sean Myles of Dalhousie University talks about grape domestication, grape genetic improvement, and the genetic racism of wine snobs.

Download on iTunes

Download on Stitcher

https://geneticliteracyproject.org/wp-content/uploads/2015/06/003_dale_myles2.mp3

To learn more about weekly podcast interviews with Kevin Folta, visit Talking Biotech Podcast.