

Russia has long used social media to undermine consensus science behind GMOs, vaccines and other Western-based technologies

Hoaxlines found accounts that had pushed false claims about the 2009 Swine Flu and the vaccine against it had also promoted Russian state media and pro-Kremlin narratives and disinformation years later.

Although these accounts' behavior and traits suggested inauthenticity and some exclusively spread false information, some remain active on the platform today. Some users fell dormant, active only between 2009 and 2010, but others, like the example in this report, spread content and claims likely intended to influence real users.
