

Video: Honeybee apocalypse? Yet another scientist challenges claims that bees used mostly in agriculture are under threat. Wild bees? That's another story

German physicist Sabine Hossenfelder challenges what she calls the 'myth' that honeybees are facing catastrophic health challenges. She believes wild bees are facing health challenges from a variety of threats, including pesticide "cocktails."

Follow the latest news and policy debates on sustainable agriculture, biomedicine, and other 'disruptive' innovations. Subscribe to our newsletter.

SIGN UP

See the original post here